PSO SCOTT McMANIS & K-9 DIESEL CINCINNATI POLICE DEPARTMENT

On May 17, 2012, Cincinnati Police Specialist Scott McManis and his partner, K-9 Diesel, were contacted at the request of Cincinnati Police Officers assigned to the Drug Enforcement Agency Task Force. Task Force Agents had been conducting surveillance operations involving a Mexican national and had observed the individual utilizing a commercial storage facility located in the Butler County area just north of Cincinnati. After determining the target had contracted the use of an outdoor locker at the storage facility, Officer Baker requested the deployment of K-9 Diesel with the intent of securing a search warrant for the unit. DEA directed Specialist McManis to the rear of the storage facility, which consisted of a long row of large, outdoor units, all of which were shielded from view by a thick wood line behind the security fence. Specialist McManis was shown a row of six adjacent lockers, numbered from 624 to 629, but was not advised of the location of the target unit. After determining that the wind direction was from the left to right, Specialist McManis deployed K-9 Diesel at locker 629 and worked back towards the left. Without presentation on the first pass, K-9 Diesel placed his nose along the bottom seam of each successive locker door, and as he moved down the line was observed with an obvious head snap at the base of locker 626. K-9 Diesel continued to the far left of the deployment ending in locker 624 with no other reaction. As Specialist McManis presented the second pass along the lockers from left to right, K-9 Diesel displayed a perpendicular body-axis change and loud breath purge when he reached locker 626. After a moment of increased breathing rate, K-9 Diesel began a vigorous scratch at the bottom door seam of unit 626 indicating the presence of narcotic odor. DEA agents were able to use the positive alert by a trained, certified, and reliable narcotics detection K-9 team to secure a search warrant for entry into the unit. Once opened, unit 626 was found to contain a locked, 2003 Ford Mustang Cobra. Again, DEA requested the deployment of K-9 Diesel, this time into the storage interior itself. After directing Diesel to search the interior, Specialist McManis released K-9 Diesel off lead into locker 626. Diesel ran around the Mustang to the far rear wall of the unit, and was observed working the odor cone from the front of the auto along the base to the rear trunk area. Once at the trunk, K-9 Diesel crawled underneath the rear bumper, alert for the source of the odor. After this final K-9 alert, Task Force Agents entered the trunk of the Ford Mustang and recovered a loaded AK-47 with multiple loaded magazines, an automatic currency counter, a large suitcase with powder cocaine residue on the interior surface, and several other pieces of luggage containing $1,025,613.00 in U.S. currency. The suspect in the initial surveillance operation was subsequently found to have connections to a known Mexican drug distribution network, and the related criminal investigation is ongoing. Specialist McManis and K-9 Diesel work hard and can always be counted on to perform and train diligently. They are regularly called upon by federal and local agencies throughout the area to assist in investigations showing the level of trust placed in them by the law enforcement community in this region. They bring great credit to the profession and to the Region 5 of the United States Police Canine Association and have done an exemplary job in this specific case.
